WHAT DOES THE NEW “S.E.E.R. STANDARDS” MEAN TO YOU.

The Department of Energy. (DOE) and the HVACR Industry established the Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating Plan, thus (S. E. E. R.) to gauge the efficiency of air conditioning equipment. By January 2006 the DOE required all manufactures to use 13 S.E.E.R. as a minimum for energy savings. In some parts of the country an air conditioning system that was installed in the 1960’s had a rating as low as a 5 - S.E.E.R. If you replaced a unit of 5 - S.E.E.R. today with a 14 - S.E.E.R. or higher you could save up to 81% on the air conditioning portion of your electric bill. The air conditioning portion of your electric bill today is between 50-53% of your total bill. It’s best to contact your local utility company for the exact savings. Most units installed by us in the 70’s and 80’s had a S.E.E.R. of about 8. In 1989 the S.E.E.R. was up to 10. and stayed there until 2006.

TESTIMONALS:

“No homeowner should be without a G.A.S.P. home warranty service program they save you money, big time every time and I keep mine re-newed year after year.”

“My A/C unit stopped cooling on the 4th of July week end and they were there. What more could you ask for.

WHAT DOES THE NEW “S.E.E.R. STANDARDS” MEAN TO ME AND HOW DOES IT SAVE ME MONEY?

The Department of Energy. (DOE) and the HVACR Industry established the Seasonal Energy Efficiency Rating Plan, thus (S. E. E. R.) to gauge the efficiency of air conditioning equipment. By Januray 2006 the DOE required all manufactures to use 13 S.E.E.R. as a minumin for energy savings. In some parts of the country an air conditioning system that was installed in the 1960’s had a rating as low as a 5 - S.E.E.R. If you replaced a unit of 5 - S.E.E.R. today with a 14 - S.E.E.R. or higher you could save up to 81% on the air conditioning portion of your electric bill. The air conditioning portion of your electric bill today is between 50-53% of your total bill. It’s best to contact your local utility company for the exact savings. Most units installed by us in the 70’s and 80’s had a S.E.E.R. of about 8. In 1989 the S.E.E.R. was up to 10. and stayed there until 2006.
